

HVAC Service

One call that handles it all

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure when it comes to your Heating Ventilation and Air Conditioner (HVAC) system. Instead of letting an inefficient HVAC drain your bank account, investing in a little bit of routine maintenance and care can go a long way toward saving you money and keeping your home comfortable month after month.

What is an HVAC service?

Routine HVAC service provides reassurance that your system is primed to perform. Think of it as a wellness check for your cooling, heating, and air ventilation system. Just like your car needs regular oil changes and tire rotations to keep getting you from point A to point B, your HVAC needs regular cleanings and adjustments to keep working efficiently, making your home feel comfortable year-round.

An HVAC service call includes all of the routine inspections, checks, and diagnostic tests that your system needs to keep running efficiently.

During the service call, a technician will assess your HVAC's operation, completing a checklist of items to make sure the system is fully optimized. HVAC service calls typically take about an hour.

Routine maintenance ensures that your unit is working properly and can prevent minor issues from developing into costly repairs. Having your HVAC serviced keeps your home feeling comfortable while saving you time and money—and there's a rebate!

Why having your HVAC routinely serviced is worth every penny

COST SAVING

An HVAC unit that's struggling to keep up with your home's demand will keep running until it wears itself out. At that point, you're left with replacement options that will cost much more than the price of a service call and routine maintenance.

COMFORT

Having a properly maintained HVAC means you don't have to worry about your A/C or high bills. When your HVAC is optimized and operating at maximum efficiency, your home will feel comfortable regardless of outdoor temperatures.

SAFETY/HEALTH

A properly functioning HVAC unit maintains your home's air quality, giving you peace of mind and helping you to breathe easy.

Let's talk about rebates!

We offer a rebate of 50% of the cost up to $25 for HVAC Service as a part of our Home Energy Improvement Program. This means you save money in the long run while earning a rebate.

To earn the rebate, you must work with a participating program contractor or licensed HVAC professional.

What are the considerations?

Rebates are available once a year per HVAC service performed on electric heat pump and electric furnace systems.
